Cera is a screenwriter for film and television. After completing her initial industry training at Devilfish Media, Paramount Pictures and Pathe UK, she was selected by the BBC Writers' Room to take part in their Writing For Television mentoring seminars. She has also been mentored by Doctor Who script editor John Phillips, UK TV writing legend Tony Jordan, and Hollywood mogul Joss Whedon.

Cera is a regular attendee of The London Screenwriters' Festival and has been selected on three occasions for their prestigious 'Advanced Writing Labs'. Her projects 'Blink!', 'See You In Honolulu' and 'Destination: Hollywood' have also been performed as part of the 'Actors Table Read'. 'Destination: Hollywood' also placed in the quarter finals of the Final Draft Big Break Screenwriting Contest 2015.

Cera has a particular taste for comedy and adventure stories and also enjoys writing for young audiences. She is currently developing various projects for film, television, and online.
