Helen Greenwood is an up-and-coming writer, whose main focus is sitcom and comedy drama. She is currently working on two comedy dramas for television. Her tastes are dark, surreal, blue, cringe and character driven comedy. She also has an interest in sketch writing and would love to see more sketch comedy on television again.

Helen is a qualified Psychiatric nurse and has worked in a variety of settings in the NHS for the last 10 years. Her knowledge of the human psyche and experience working in frontline psychiatric services informs all her writing.
