Michael's heart was cultivated through his love of making people smile. His films explore the grandiose spectacle of what could never be imagined paired with the intimate and emotional focus of the human condition. He anchors himself in passion.

Michael runs production company Haute Honnah with Imeldha.

Haute Honnah: Haute Honnah is a British-based production company striving to create organic stories that represent British-bred subcultures. Founded in 2019, Haute Honnah aims to vocalise the underrepresented misfit. As a homegrown powerhouse, using backgrounds in theatre, fashion and music, Haute Honnah cultivates original feature films, TV series and art house projects. We believe in the liberation of the marginalised in the media and the humanisation of minorities across all domains. Haute Honnah strives to create stories that do just that. It is time for change, complexity and a shift in representation... not just on screen but in story.
